CENTRE COUNTY REPORTS $862,450 FOR 3RD LOAN

Liberty Bond Sales Exceed Allotment Nearly 50 Per Cent.

WOMEN TOOK BIG PART

Subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan in Centre County District will reach $862,450, almost 50 % more than the allotment of $600,000. The several towns in the district report subscriptions as follows:

|---|---|
| Bellefonte | 420,350 |
| State College | 136,85. |
| Snow Shoe Bank | 61,300 |
| Millheim Banking Co. | 57,800 |
| Farmers National Bank, Millheim | 56,300 |
| Howard National Bank | 45,850 |
| Centre Hall National Bank | 37,000 |

Subscriptions amounting to $22,000, made throught the Lehigh Valley Coal Co., should be added to those from Snow Shoe, although reported outside the district. A further addition to the figures given above will be that of the employees of the Penna. R. R. in the district aggregating $26,000. This brings the total to $862,450. The amount should be further increased by upwards of $10,000 from Worth Township, reports made through the Tyrone banks, and credited to the Blair County District, the subscribers refusing to subscribe through the Centre County banks. The Advisory Committee for Penna., has sent the following telegram to Chairman Charles M. McCurdy:

"At the close of this momentous campaign we cannot but begin to adequately express our appreciation of the magnificent work you and every man in your organization have done in your district, especially in the width of your distribution, inasmuch as every buyer becomes a staunch and understanding supporter of the government. We congratulate you, and knowing something of the difficulties you have labored under, we shall be glad to convey to Governor Passmore your final totals, when tabuloted, so that he may have complete knowledge of the full measure of thanks that are your due in this service to your God and your country."

Mr. McCurdy says: "This message of thanks and congratulation from the Advisory Committee should be taken as a personal tribute by every Committeeman and Committee-woman in the district: for it is to their intelligent and persistent efforts that we owe the success of the subscription. The thanks of the chairman and of the General Committee are due all of the patriotic workers whose services as solicitors and speakers have produced such good results. The work of the women is to be especially commended, while the figures are not at present available, their work was important, and their efforts added materially to the grand total."

The list of subscribers contains almost 4,000 names, showing the wide patriotic interest in the loan.

The above figures do not include Philipsburg, which is outside this district.

TEACHER PENSION RATES.

State Retirement Board Announces Schedule of Payments to Fund.

Centre County public school teachers will be interested to learn that according to announcement from Harrisburg, the State Teachers' Retirement Board, which is providing for the establishment of the teachers pension system, has issued a table of payments required from salaries of teachers to enable them to participate in tha system which is being distributed among the 45,000 teachers in the State.

Prof. H. H. Baish, the secretary, in a statement issued, says that the rates of contribution are based on an actuarial investigation of the service and mortality records of teachers throughout the country.

The contributions from school employes are computed to be sufficient to pay one-half of the retirement allowances. "The rates" he says, "are lower for men than women, only because the mortality among men annuitants is higher than among women, resulting in a small number of payments to men, consequently in a reduction in the cost of the allowance. The rate at which the employe begins to contribute is computed to remain constant throughout the remaineder of the service."

The table issued gives the percentage of salary required from 18 to 61 years of age. At 18 men are listed at 3.33 and women 3 69, while the payment at 22 is 3.34 for men and 3.78 for women. At 30 it is 3 42 and 3.96; at 35, 3 55 and 4.16; at 40, 3.74 and 4.45; at 45, 4.01 and 4.83; at 50, 4 34 and 5.29.

Snow Shoe Scores Record for Red Cross.

Hats off to the citizens of Snow Shoe for a splendid record scored in the matter of contributions for the Red Cross. A special collection was taken recently for the Red Cross fund and when the canvassers had turned in their final reports it was found that the money in hand amounted to exactly $000 00. When the people of Snow Shoe take hold of a proposition they push it along with unlimited enthusiasm and energy, which fact explains the great success attending the collection for the Red Cross. The contributors to the fund were the following:—

COURT MEETS MAY 22.

Opening of May Term Deferred Two Days Owing to Primary Election.

In order that jurymen, witnesses and principals in cases scheduled for trial at the approaching May term of court might remain at home and attend the primary lection on May 21st, the opening of the session has been formally postponed from May 20th to May 22nd. Sheriff Yarnell was directed to so inform jurymen of the change.

Residents of and nearby Bellefonte attending court would not have been greatly inconvenienced in getting to the polls on the 21st, but those from Philipsburg and other far-removed points would have found it impossible to participate in the primaries. Hence the official order postponing the opening of the term until May 22nd, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

An Automobile Wreck.

Sunday three young men from Yeagertown, Mifflin county, came to Bellefonte in a new Pilot car. The name of one of the gentlemen was Tate. It was a demonstrating car and in the afternoon they started down the State road toward Milesburg. When they reached the railroad crossing, south of the charcoal house of the McCoy-Linn Iron Works, the drive shaft broke off and the car landed on its side. Every spoke in the right front wheel was broken out and the springs on the rear axle were broken.

The occupants were thrown out but escaped injury. Workmen from George Beezer's garage were soon on the scene and the machine was taken to the garage for repairs. The automobile sells at $2000 and this was the initial long trip. The young men telephoned for another car and returned to Yeagertown Sunday night.

"Bobby" Green in Trouble.

Last Thursday "Bob" Green (colored), of Bellefonte, went into McCrory's five and ten cent store to make a little purchase. It happened that Ralph Eyer, the manager, had just walked out and "Bob" thought it was time to get something for nothing and so began pilfering. After walking up to one of the lady clerks and offering to pay for the small article the clerk asked him if he was not going to pay for other articles he had in his pocket. He denied he had anything in his pockets belonging to the store. The young lady looked up Mr. Eyer, who after searching found a dog collar, gum heels, yarn and several other trinkets. Mr. Eyer then called up Sheriff Yarnell who took Green to jail. Saturday he waived a hearing and was placed under a $100 bond for his appearance at the next term of court.

Go to the Primaries.

The primary election will take place on the 21st of May and every citizen in Centre county ought to investigate the merits of the candidates for office and go to the polls with a clear understanding of the character of the men for whom they are going to vote. Every man over 21 years of age should cast a ballot for his choice and thus show a patriotic interest in their government. The man who can go to the polls and doesn't is nothing more than a slacker. The primaries are more important than the election and thus should be well attended.

Marriage Licenses.

Register Frank Sasserman has issued the following marriage licenses:

|---|---|
| Geo. C. Pelter, | Bellwood |
| Stella M. Rightnour, | Port Matilda |
| Victor B. Dann, | Bellefonte |
| Francis A. Novosel, | " |

| Clara S. Hermany. | " |

Eight weeks of practical instruction will be given them by experts of the State College engineering school. To supply workroom facilities, the college will immediately construct a temporary building which will be fully equipped with automobile motors and accessories.

HORACE MUSSER GONE IS SHORT ABOUT $1500

Local Insurance Agent and Rent and Tax Collector Writes from Illinois Admitting being Financially Involved.

MILESBURG BORO HARD HIT

W. Horace Musser, for several years a fire insurance agent in Bellefonte and renting and collecting agent for a number of business buildings and private residences, has left town and investigations are now being made to ascertain the condition of his more or less entangled accounts. Until his affairs are straightened out the exact amount of his shortage will not be known. It is thought to be $1200 or $1500, and perhaps more. He has been missing since April 28th. In a letter written by him and mailed from East St. Louis, Illinois, he admitted being "financially involved." In his letter he did not specify the amount, nor did he indicate what particular funds collected by him had been applied to his own use. His present whereabouts is a mystery, beyond the fact that he is known to have left East St. Louis since writing from that point some days ago. In his letter he said that he had left town to take a position that had been offered him. He said everything would be fixed up eventually.

Musser's heaviest defalcation, so far as the investigation had progressed, apparently is in his collections of taxes for Milesburg Borough. This may in itself reach $1200, possibly $1400. On January 1st he was indebted to Milesburg Borough $900 for borough tax, $125 for sinking fund tax and $400 for poor tax, but since that date he has paid some orders drawn on these accounts, so that the actual amount still due from him is not known at this time. Musser was also collector of school tax for Milesburg Borough, but it is believed that very little, if anything, is due from him on this account. A short time ago Musser explained to members of the School Board that he was pressed for money to pay orders promptly and asked that they negotiate a loan of $400. This was done, but with the stipulation that the note would have to be paid with the State High School appropriation of a like amount. Subsequently Musser had the School Board renew the note in a Bellefonte bank, but it was impressed upon him that it would have to be paid with the High School appropriation. Members of the School Board say the $400 was not received from Harrisburg until a day or two after Musser left town and consequently the money did not fall in his hands and will be used today in paying off the note.

Musser is bonded by the American Surety Company of New York as collector for both Milesburg Borough and the Milesburg School Board. In each instance the bond is $2500, or considerably more than any known or estimated shortage.

Two special insurances investigators are in town straightening out Musser's insurance accounts. They are S. R. Dibert, of Hollidaysburg, and A. G. Crawshaw, of Pittsburgh. They are acting for the six or eight fire insurance companies for which Musser acted as agent. Mr. Crawshaw admitted to THE REPUBLICAN that he and Mr. Dibert were going over Musser's accounts, but would neither confirm nor deny that they had discovered any shortage. An unconfirmed report is that several cases have been uncovered where Musser had made no accounting for policies issued. Policy holders are fully indemnified against loss.

Musser acted as renting and collecting agent for the Roland Curtin estate property, on East Allegheny Street, running from High Street to Pike Alley, and also for some property owned by Norman Sherer, formerly owned by the old Bellefonte and Nittany furnace companies. Mr. Sherer came to Bellefonte recently to insist on rentals being paid over to him, but Musser was not to be found. Whether he is behind with other rent collections is not known.

Musser's friends keenly regret his misfortune. He was well liked. They believe that he became discouraged and was too proud to remain and ask them for help. Had he made known his troubles, they say, he might have straightened everything out.

Special Notice.

GEO. H. YARNELL, Sheriff.

SEVERAL HUNDRED MEN FROM COUNTY IN FRANCE

Boal Gun Troop and Former Troop L Boys are "Over There."

ACTIVE SERVICE SOON

By the time this issue of The Republican reaches our readers the several hundred Centre County soldiers who spent the winter at Camp Hancock will probably have arrived "over there." The exact time or place of departure, or other information as to the movement of troops, cannot be published. The next day or two will likely find our Centre County boys assigned to temporary training camps in France. Having received a thorough course in training at Camp Hancock, the no distant future will in all probability see our home boys ordered to the trenches.

Just how many Centre Countians are in the number that recently sailed for France is now rather difficult to estimate. They include the members of the Boal Machine Gun Troop and what was formerly Troop L, as well as members of the Hospital Corps. Troop L boys, when that command was broken up, were assigned to various branches of the service, chiefly infantry and artillery.

Barn Destroyed by Fire.

There is an old maxim "Trouble never comes single-handed" often found to be true. Only a few weeks ago we were compelled to chronicle the sad news of the sudden death of the twelve-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Solt, of near Pine Glenn, who was killed in an automobile accident at Clarence. At this time we are compelled to record the account of the burning of Mr. Solt's large barn which was struck by lightning during an electric storm which swept over that community, Monday morning about 2.30 o'clock. It being at that time of night the structure was destroyed before help arrived. Mr. Solt succeded in saving all his stock except one cow and two horses. He tried to get the farming machinery out but the flames made such rapid head-way that he found it impossible. All the farming machinery, together with four hundred bushels of wheat, two to three hundred bushels of oats, hay, straw, and cornfodder were destroyed with the barn. Several small buildings were also burned. The loss is estimated to be between six and seven thousand dollars. He had some insurance.

A Bride From the South.

Monday Mrs. Clair N. Grove arrived in Bellefonte and is now a guest at the home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Grove, of near town. She came from Fort Clark, Brackettville, Texas, and was on the road since the 1st of May. Her husband had a furlough to accompany her and he was already at the depot ween the captain came and informed him it was impossible to have him go at that time. This was a great disappointment to both but as Mr. Grove had no choice in the matter he remained and Mrs. Grove came north. Her maiden name was Miss Edna Waite, of Pittsburgh, and on November 25th, 1917, they were married and it was kept a secret until after Clair went south. She is a very pleasing young lady and is making many friends here. Clair Grove is a member of the 48th Regiment and only one week ago was given the commission of sergeant. Mrs. Grove will remain in Bellefonte several days and then visit her parents in Pittsburgh. After finishing her visit there she will return to Bellefonte before departing for the south.

Fire at Aaronsburg.

Last Friday morning about 10 o'clock there was a fire in Aaronsburg that for a short time threatened the destruction of the little inland town. Two children while playing in the large barn, owned by Mrs. E. J. Hinds and tenanted by F. J. Stover, set fire to the straw and in a few moments the building was a mass of flames. The fire reached the barn of William Haines which was used as a wagon and carpenter shop, and in a short time both buildings were nothing but a mass of ruins. The losses are as follows with no insurance: Mrs. Hinds, $1000; F. J. Stover, $500; Mr. Haines, $900. In the latter shop there were house furnishings, several new wagons and sleds, tools and sixty bushels of corn.

While Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Brinmire were motoring from the penitentiary last night their car struck a stepping stone, crashed through a fence on Logan Street and traveled 20 feet or more down a steep incline before it could be stopped. Nobody was injured.

AN ADVENTUROUS FEAT

Performed by Harry, Taylor Book keeper for the Titan Metal Company.

Harry Taylor, the careful and obliging book-keeper at the offices of the Titan Metal Co., offered himself a sacrifice last Thursday afternoon (not for his country because that may come later) but for a cat that for two days and nights had been perched on the top most branch of the tall maple tree in front of the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A., building probably having taken refuge there from the attacks of a vicious dog. The cat being about eighty feet in the air a large number of suggestions were made as to how it could be gotten down. John Kline had made the attempt to crawl the tree but the cat had so entrenched itself that it could not be shaken down, even after the young man had gone half way up the tree. It made such a horrible noise at night that some people in the community wanted it shot.

Mr. Taylor, possessing a humane feeling for the cat began climbing the tall tree and the further he went up the more hazardous it became because of the diminishing in size of the trunk of the tree. Finally the top of the tree began bending to one side to the extent that many in the large crowd beneath turned their eyes away lest there would be a crackling of the limb and Mr. Taylor would be precipitated to the pavement below. However, in face of this danger his nerve never failed until the objective point was reached. The cat must have been "Kaiserized" as it began to claw and put up a fierce fight. It bit Mr. Taylor's finger through his glove several times and thus when every peaceful term failed he shook the limb and down came Mr. Cat. Had it not been that it hit several limbs in its decent the cat might have broken its back. As soon as it struck the ground it ran away unhurt. While Mr. Taylor is to be highly complimented for his courage there is a moral to this story. "Never fight the fellow who wants to be your friend."

Speech of ### ROBERT PATTON HABGOOD
of Bradford, McKean County

Candidate for Governor in the Republican Primaries.

The Republican County Committee of the McKean County, my home, at a meeting last month unanimously endorsed me for Governor and their resolution favorably commended my candidacy to the Republicans of Pennsylvania and at the same time called their attention to the fact that it gives them an opportunity to recognize the northwest and the northern tier counties which never had a Governor, as well as the interior of the state, which has not had a Governor since Hastings. I am the only gubernatorial candidate in the primaries who has the endorsement of the Republican County Committee from his home county, or who will have.

The success of either factional candidate, Senator Sproul or Commissioner O'Neil, at the primaries would only give the maximum of comfort, encouragement and assistance to the Democrats in the fall. Is not the success of the Republican party greater than the personal ambition or the personal vengeance of any man? There is no secret of the fact that if Senator Sproul is nominated, Commissioner O'Neil, his factional opponent, will undoubtedly be a candidate on a third party ticket in the fall. As a matter of fact, either faction would rather see me nominated than the candidate of the other faction, and have so expressed themselves to me, which proves that the maximum of unity in the party after the primaries can only be secured by my nomination.

The Prohibiton issue, which was considered the principal issue, has been neutralized but the issue of factionalism has only been accentuated by that very fact. Factionalism is a species of autocracy against which the whole world at the present time is up in arms and I believe the Republican voters of Pennsylvania on May 21 will overwhelmingly rebuke this most destructive force in our party by refusing to nominate either of the factional candidates.

The largest cities of our state, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and adjacent territory, richly deserve and have received handsome recognition from the Republican voters, and from all the voters of our Commonwealth in the preferment of their favorite sons, but there are thousands of voters not only in the country but in these large cities too who believe it would not only be just but that it is high time to recognize the interior of the state in the selection of a Governor, once in a generation at least, nd if so then the northwest and the northern tier for the first time in the history of the state. Blood is thicker than water and it is impossible for even the most competent and experienced men who come from the commercial and political environment for years of a large city, to understand or appreciate the needs of the country districts, or of the interior sections of the state or to know what appeals most to them, like one who lives with them. This has been demonstrated over and over again. I am not appealing to you Republicans of the country counties to stand against the cities but stand with thousands and thousands of voters in the large cities who are not factionalists and who believe that it is to the best interest of the whole state and of our party to nominate a Governor this year from the interior of the State—from the Northwest

Death of John Moore.

Another of the Civil war veterans, John Moore, died at the home of his son, David, at Hill Crest, Philipsburg, last Thursday. He was taken ill before Christmas and his conditon had been serious ever since. He was in his eighty-third year, having been born May 15th, 1835, in the Bald Eagle valley, Centre County. In his earlier life Mr. Moore followed carpentering, but for many years had been unable to engage in any regular occupation.

A brother, William Moore, resides at Port Matilda, and two sisters Mary Ann, wife of Theophyllis Moore, and Lucy, wife of Matthew Harvey, live at Shingle House.

The wife of the deceased has long been dead. The following children were born to the pair and survive: Mary Alice, wife of Thomas Richardson, of Dilltown, Indiana county; Samuel, of McCartney, Clearfield county; Wall and Daniel L., of SandyRidge; Elmer, of South Philipsburg, and David, of Philipsburg. In 1863 Mr. Moore enlisted in Company L, 143rd Regiment, Pa. volunteers, and served valiantly until mustered out in 1865.

Twenty Years Ago.

Thousands of people each year pass the monument at Old Fort and without stopping to look at it wonder for what purpose it was placed there. It was at this place that the Potters and the other earlier settlers of Pennsvalley built a fort to protect themselves from the ravages and cruelties of the Indians. This was in the year 1777 when Centre county was practically a wilderness, and besides the Indians it was filled with vicious animals who often attacked the horseman as he rode over the perilous trail. Those who had minature farms tilled the soil with guns by their side and with a keen eye and ear watched for the deadly intruder.

Twenty years ago the Centre county Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution erected a marker on the site of the Potter's Fort at Old Fort. The marker is of gray marble two feet square and four feet high. The marker was placed in position in May with appropriate ceremonies, the ladies of Bellefonte taking an active interest in the unvailing.

No Picnic at Williams Grove.

Agriculturists and others from this section who in years past have been accustomed to journey to Williams Grove, near Harrisburg, to attend the annual Grangers' picnic, will not do so this year. The old lease held by the Cumberland Valley railroad company has been cancelled and a new lease has been taken out by Charles Markley who is having the grove transformed into a regular summer resort with all sorts of entertaining features and every facility for campers. New cottages will be built and extensive alterations are in prospect. The cottage feature of the grove proved a big thing in years past.

Just what arrangements will be made by the Grangers' Association for continuing the annual exhibitions is not known but it has been definitely decided that there will be no Grangers picnic until after the war is over.

The Bell Family Reunion.

Mrs. William Bell, of Bellefonte, makes her home between her two daughters, Mrs. Calvin Troup and Mrs. William Chambers. This good woman reached her 80th year recently and in honor of the event all her children gathered around her at a family dinner given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Chambers, on Curtin street. Those who sat around the festive board were Dr. J. Finley Bell, Englewood, N. J.; John and Frank Bell, East Hampton, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kessinger, State College, and Mrs. Lem Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Troup and family and Mrs. Priscilla Bell, of Bellefonte. It was certainly a delightful family gathering. Although up in years Mrs. Bell is enjoying the best of health.

A War Measure.

As a war measure, the Milton Manufacturing Company Monday began to canvass the town for girls and women to work in the shell plant. They will do work heretofore done by men. Every girl or woman who offers her service for shell plant work will relieve one man for war service.

Although girl workers have been used in practically all the big munitions plants throughout the country, the Milton plant, up to the present, has employed only men for mill work and the innovation will be watched with interest.

Mrs. Laura Narber is canvassing the town. It is thought the girls will be started in their new line of work about the first of June.

Another Red Cross Drive.

The Red Cross will conduct a campaign, during the week beginning May 20th, to raise a war fund of $100,000,000. The amount allotted for the Bellefonte Chapter and its auxiliaries is $15,000 which means an average of about $3.50 for each member. It would be well for each person to lay aside a little change every day so as to be ready to contribute his or her share when the campaign opens.

THE KAISER TALKS TO HELL.

The Kaiser called the devil up
On the telephone one day;
The girl at central listened to
What he had to say.

"Hello," she heard the Kaiser's voice
"Is old man Satan home?
Just tell him it is Kaiser Bill
That wants him on the phone."

The Devil said, "Hello," to Bill
And Bill said. "How are you?
I'm running here a Hell on Earth,
So tell me what to do."

"What can I do?" the devil said,
"My dear old Kaiser Bill?
If there is a thing that I can do
To help you, sure I will."

The Kaiser said, "Now listen,
And I will try to tell
The way I am running
On earth a modern Hell.

"I've saved for this for many years,
And I've started out to kill,
That it will be a modern job,
You leave to Kaiser Bill.

"My army went thru Belgium
Shooting women and children down,
We tore up all the country
And blew up all her towns.

"My zepps dropped bombs on cities,
Killing both the old and young,
And those the zepplins didn't get
Were taken out and hung.

"I started out for Paris,
With the aid of poisonous gas,
The Belgians, darn 'em stopped us,
And wouldn't let us pass.

"My submarines are devils,
Why you should see them fight!
They go sneaking thru the sea,
And sink a ship at sight.

"I was running things to suit me,
'Till about a year or so ago,
When a man called Woodrow Wilson
Wrote me to go more slow.

"He said to me, 'Dear William,
We don't want to make you sore.
So be sure to tell your U-boats
To sink our ships no more.

" 'We've told you for the last time
So, dear Bill it's up to you.
And if you do not stop it,
You may have to fight us too."

"I didn't listen to him,
And he's coming after me
With a million Yankee soldiers,
From their home across the sea.

"Now that's why I called you Sataan,
For I want advice from you.
I knew that you would tell me,
Just what I ought to do."

"My dear old Kaiser William,
There's not much for me to tell,
For the Yanks will make it hotter
Than I can for you in Hell.

"I've been a mean old devil,
But not near as mean as you,
And the minute that you get here
I'll give my job to you.

"I'll be ready for your coming,
And I'll keep the fires all bright
And I'll have your room all ready,
When the Yanks begin to fight.

"For the boys in blue will get you,
I have nothing more to tell.
Hang up the phone and get your hat
And meet me here in Hell."

Broke Plank on Bridge.

Howard Thompson manager of the State-Centre Electric Company, returned to Bellefonte Sunday afternoon from Mifflinburg, Mifflin County, where last week he took a three-ton truck loaded with transformer, wire and other material for the plant at that place. When he left Bellefonte he had over four tons on the truck. It kept him busy to cross some of the small bridges between here and Millersburg. When he reached Sunbury he paid thirty-five cents to go over the bridge that spans the Susquehanna river. While crossing a large number of the planks were broken, caused by the heavy load. When he reached Shamokin Dam he received word to return to Sunbury and fix up the damages but he continued his journey and it is not known what precedure may be taken against him. It was lucky he didn't land in the river.

Limit to Trout Catch.

Fishermen are learning that the new law on trout, placing the limit at twenty-five, means that one person may have only twenty five trout in his posssession, even if he has been out for two or three days. The former law made the limit forty each day.

The state warden is notifying game wardens to interpret the new law on the basis of twenty five trout to be taken from camp, but it is instructing them to make no arrests for a first offense where a misunderstanding prevailed.

THE BLIND AND THE MUTILATED

By Dr. ESTHER LOVEJOY

IN the years to come this war will prove a blessing to the blind. A new world is being evolved. Nature has at least one extraordinary sense in reserve for those who lose any of the five ordinary senses. The blind feel things that are not within reach. They are conscious of vibrations that are not perceptible to seeing men.

The sightless learn to read very quickly by the Braille method. It is interesting to watch the face of a blind man as his fingers pass over the upraised dots of a Braille book and his mind perceives the mysteries recorded there for him. They have special stenographic machines and special printing presses. Books and magazines are translated into the written language of the sightless.

Men blinded in battle are acquiring great skill in the textile arts, as moulders, and in other industries where a highly developed sense of touch is essential to good work.

The higher type of blind men have great personal charm. Their souls seem nearer the surface. They are peculiarly beloved people, and their clairvoyance makes them conscious of the kindness and affection with which they are regarded. Naturally they react to it. Perhaps that is why they usually seem so happy and cheerful.

Unfortunately there are forms of mutilation which have the opposite effect. When a man knows that he is repulsive to every man, woman and child who looks upon him; when he shrinks from the reflection of his own disfigured face in the mirror, and shudders at the strange sound of his own voice, he wants to die.

A great deal is being done for these mutilated men. They are being refitted with arms and legs. Plastic surgery is doing its part, too, in the way of restoring palates, teeth and facial contour, and the American Red Cross in Paris is attempting to make life more livable for them by providing masks which restore their original features. They will be useful members of society, but the soul of man craves more than service. Life and liberty are precious possessions, but the pursuit of happiness is the dearest right of man. We are all alike. We want to go through life with the sweet illusion that the blue bird of happiness is just within reach, and this illusion is almost impossible to the disfigured man.

It is the sacred duty of all those who have been benefited by their sacrifice to leave nothing undone to restore their usefulness; to employ every art to increase their mental and physical powers and the charm of personalities, to the end that their lives may be enriched rather than impoverished by the fortunes of war.

How Would You Get Rid Of Miles of Barbed Wire?

One of the Many Problems the Red Cross Has to Meet.

Have you ever thought what strange and baffling problems must come up to the Red Cross workers when they start out to rebuild a French town—just the problem of the barbed wire, for instance? This letter tells it:

"We have nearly every day about half a dozen German prisoners working amongst us, who are escorted in to work in the morning by a pollu and called for in the evening. They appear quite harmless, but we have too many evidences all around us to prove that their race is quite to the contrary.

"You should see the barbed wire—miles and miles of it. How any one could ever get through it, let alone under fire, is beyond me. It's usually coiled and stretched around iron stakes or crosses about four feet long, and the whole thing makes a waist high mass sometimes 15 or 20 feet wide. There are really acres of it around here, and when you think how many strips of it there are, stretching from Belgium to Switzerland—why, it's going to be a real problem after the war to get it all up and out of the way. I bet a lot of people walk into it through the snow this winter.

"We came across unexploded shells now and then and hand grenades of various shapes and sizes also; but, believe me, we leave them alone. There are four on the wall in our back yard and several in a field near by."

The Red Cross Answers

By THEODOSIA GARRISON

Of the Vigilantes.

Dear God, to leave this sheltered place wherefrom I may not go
To give my service to a world torn through with war and woe,
To heal the wounds of broken men, to mend the shattered mind,
To lend my hands unto the maimed, my eyes unto the blind;
To give a woman back her man from out the very dead—
"But I will do this for you," said the great Cross of Red.

Nay, but there are little towns that once were white and fair
Now burned and bleak and desolate 'mid blackened fields and bare;
If I might bring its people back to find there as before
The staunch roof, the decent hearth, the vines about the door;
If I might lift a frightened child and leave it comforted—
"But I will do this for you," said the great Cross of Red.

"You may heal the wounded and you may guide the blind,
You may bring new comfort and joy to humankind,
If so within your sheltered place you give me for your part
The strength within your two hands, the pity at your heart;
Through you, from you, of you I am, by your own heart-strings led,
I fail but if you fail me"—said the great Cross of Red.

Dr. Rebecca R. Longshore Dead.

Dr. Rebecca Reynolds Longshore, who was well known in Centre County, as well as in many other places, passed away at her home near San Diego, Cal., on April 17th, 1918. She was born at Milesburg, December 22, 1836, the daughter of Israel and Sarah Whitney Reynolds, who came to this country from Wales in 1832. She graduated as a physician from the Philapelphia Medical College and continued in the practice as long as she was able. She married Samuel Longshore, a dentist, and brother of the well known Dr. Anna Potts, formerly of Philadelphia but who died at San Diego.

The Longshores worked for the government in the Pawnee Reservation in Nebraska, teaching, doctoring and training, where they became intimately acquainted with Colonel Cody (Buffalo Bill), while practicing in his family. After their work in Nebraska was concluded they moved to California where Samuel Longshore died several years ago. Dr. Rebecca Longshore was a sister of Mrs. Mary Hicklen, who died at the home of her son, the late C. K. Hicklen, in Bellefonte, a few years ago also a sister of Mrs. Margery T. Lucas, who died less than a year ago at Unionville. She was also an aunt of Mrs. Howard M. Miles, of Union Township.

Mrs. Rebecca S. Reed Dead.

Mrs. Rebecca Saylor Reed, wife of James Reed, passed away at her home, at Tyrone, at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, death being due to cancer of the stomach. Deceased was born at Huntingdon Furnace on July 21, 1848. Surviving to mourn her death besides the husband is one brother, Robert Saylor, of Tyrone, and one sister, Mrs. Amelia Gunsalus, of Canton, O. Funeral services were held in the Columbia Avenue Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. John A. Beard. Interment in Grand View cemetery. Mrs. Reed, at one time, resided in Coleville, near Bellefonte.

Fetters and Jodon in Jail.

Last Thursday Judge Quigley sent James Fetters, of Bellefonte, and Richard Jodon, of Milesburg, to jail besides imposing a fine of $50 on both men. The charge was furnishing men of known intemperate habits with liquor. On Tuesday Fetters purchased a bottle of whiskey at the Brandt House and turned it over to Joseph Turner. He was arrested by Policeman Yerger. On the following day Jodon went to the Bush House and purchased a bottle of whiskey and gave it to Harry Kline. His arrest was made by chief of police Harry Dukeman. As both Fetters and Jodon were legally eligible to buy whiskey the hotels were not to be implicated.

Walker—Houser.

At the Reformed parsonage, Boalsburg, on May 1st Floyd Walker, of Centre Hall, and Miss Anna May Houser, of Linden Hall, were united in the bands of matrimony by the pastor, the Rev. S. C. Stover. The attendants were Leslie J. Deitrich and Miss Flora M. Walker, sister of the groom. Mr. Walker is a young progressive farmer, and the bride the respected daughter of William Houser. We wish them a happy vovage through life.

Raymond Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Jenkins, formerly of Bellefonte, was a visitor in town yesterday. He has resigned his position with the General Electric Co. offices in Washington, D. C., and entered the engineering department of the military service. He is stationed near Washington.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN:—Please announce that I am a candidate for Congress from the 21st district, subject to the decision of the Republican primaries on May 21st, 1918.

From the Philipsburg Journal:

"William Irvin Swoope For Congress"

In the event of the nomination of William Irvin Swoope, Esq., of Clearfield county as the Republican candidate for Congress from the twenty-first district, the campaign is likely to prove most interesting, for he is a campaign orator of national repute and would very likely stump the district in his own behalf. In all the national campaigns since 1896 he has been one of the leading speakers, traveling over a dozen states, and since 1894 has been a campaign speaker for the state committee.

William Irvin Swoope is a native of the county-seat of Clearfield, a son of United States District Attorney H. Bucher Swoope. He was educated in the Curwensville public schools, Harvard University and Harvard Law School. He is one of the leading attorneys of Central Pennsylvania and served as Republican county chair man, has been delegate to the state convention, and was elected by a large majority as the delegate from his district to the national convention.

A live wire-party man, Mr. Swoope, would prove a formidable candidate, and in event of his election to Congress, make a very able representative."

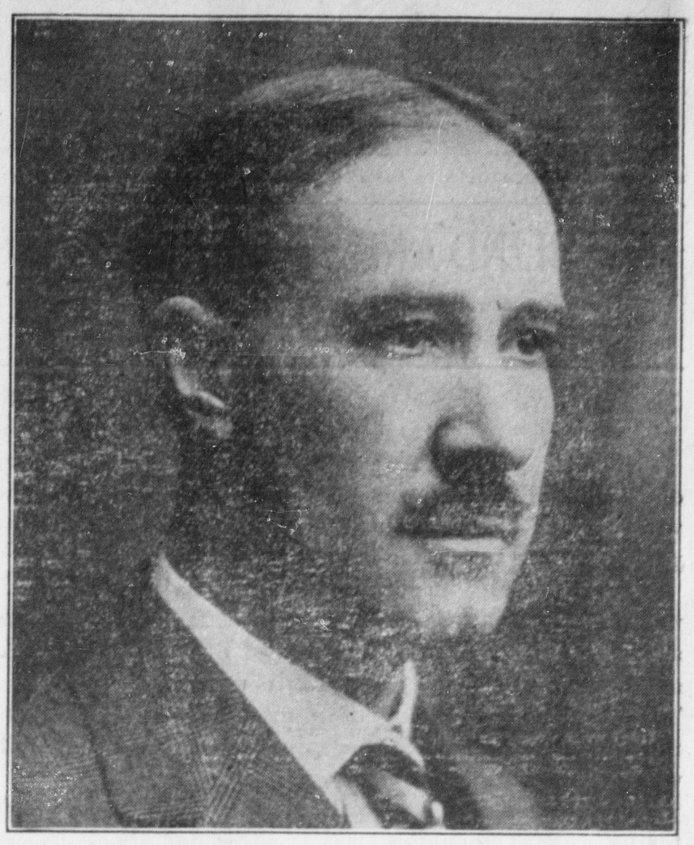
Republican Candidate for Representative in General Assembly for Centre County.



H. B. SCOTT
Philipsburg, Pa.

The position of Harry B. Scott on the abolition of the liquor traffic is entirely consistent with his life and habits and with his convictions as always mantained by him throughout his entire career.

He has declared for the abolition of the traffic and has asserted that he will lend his aid and influence to the accomplishment of such abolition in whatever form the same may assert itself, whether it be state-wide Prohibition until the Federal Amendment can come into effect or in any other manner whatever.

Mr. Scott's personal and business record has proven him to be a man whose pledge can be thoroughly relied upon and his excellent achievements in other lines in the previous sessions show him to be thoroughly worthy of the support of all Republicans at the primaries on May 21st, 1918.

COUNCIL MEETING

Burgess Walker Proposes to Put a Tight Lid on Bellefonte.

Between the subjects of fast automobile racing through the streets of Bellefonte and the announcement that Burgess W. Harrison Walker was about to put the lid down on all Sunday desecration there was a warm time in Council Monday night. Burgess Walker put new vim into the session of the Borough Fathers by announcement of his determination to close everything tight except the hotels andlegitimate restaurants, both of which are a necessity. The majority of the members in our municipal legislature said "Amen" to these suggestions and offered their hearty co-operation if necessary. Burgess Walker stated that there had been flagrant violations of the law here under the pretense that certain parties were serving lunch. Other have willfully kept their stores open on Sunday after being requested in a polite way to observe the Sunday laws. Four or five councilmen urged Burgess Walker to fine them moderately for any offense after the lid has been closed down and if they insist on violating the law he should double the fine. Dr. Brockerhoff suggested that the social clubs of the town be included. Burgess Walker will also issue a proclamation for a safe and sane Fourth of July. He said that the radical stand he was taking against these evils wasn't because he thought he was a "goody, goody fellow" but because he was trying to carry out the solemnities of the oath he took when sworn into office. Next Sunday being Mothers' Day he has asked that everything be closed.

The meeting opened with President John S. Walker in the chair. The following persons asked through communications to be exonerated from water taxes: Mrs. S. A. Bixler, formerly Miss Marguerite Potter, asked tobe exonerated from the taxes on her Linn Street property because it stood idle from April 1917 to April 1918. Mrs. E. J. Wilkinson asked to be exonerated for seven months water taxes on her property on Allegheny Street, during which time the property was unoccupied. Policeman Elmer Yerger presented a communication in which he asked for a raise of salary of $10 per month. He said his reason for such a request was the high cost of living. The matter was referred to the Fire and Police commmitee. George Beezer has two meters in his garage and as one is sufficient he asked to be exonerated from the other.

Hard Harris, chairman of the Street Committee, reported that he is repairing the streets of the town and to do this he had purchased five barrels of Udite which is being used for patching. North Allegheny and Bishop Streets will be oiled. He also showed the blue prints for the new concrete bridge that is to be erected over Logan Branch, on Willowbank Street. The matter was referred back to the Street Committee to confer with the County Commissions as to the propriety of building such a bridge. It is the one authorized by the State Department. In this connection Dr. Brockerhoff asked if Council had secured the names of two-thirds of the property owners on paper with reference to paying their share in building the brick road on South Water Street. President Walker and Hard Harris assured him that over that amount had been secured. Dr. Brockerhoff said he was going to offer his protest if they hadn't. W. D. Myer has been secured to act as Borough Engineer until the return of Norman Wright, the regular engineer. Chairman Harris reported that he did some surveying recentlyon Bishop Street for James Bailey and others.

James Seibert, chairman of the Water Committee, was authorized to purchase about forty-nine feet of rawhide belting for the large pump at the Phoenix station. It will cost about $250. Harry Flack, Chairman of the Fire and Police Committee, reported that Burgess Walker had turned over to him a check of $117 for fines and licenses. Mr. Flack then asked what Council was going to do in the matter of appropriating $1000 to each of the fire companies for fitting out their chemical trucks which is the most modern way of extinguishing fires. Council was of the opinion that as this was to be a large appropriation the members ought to know something more definite as to what was going to be done with the money. The matter was referred back to the Fire and Police Committee to report later.

The question of fast driving through the borough was then taken up. Burgess Walker claimed according to law certain signs must be put up at every hundred feet in the town before the officers of the law could act. Burgess Walker said as soon as the law was clear to him there would be something done to stop speeding inside the borough limits, especially on the main thoroughfares. If it isn't stopped Council may some day have a big damage suit on hand. Mr. Seibert stated that when the State Centre Electric Co. took over the water department it agreed to furnish a map so that he could mark the location of the stop cocks of the town. Just after he made that remark he was handed a large book containing a number of maps which the State-Centre had prepared and presented to Council. These maps are correct in every detail and valuable to the town.

Dr. Brockerhoff, chairman of the Finance committee, reported that on May 1st, 1918, there were $1136,11 in the borough treasury. Councilman Brouse said that a great many people were inquiring of him whether hogs could be kept within the borough limits. It was the sense of Council if the pig pens are kept clean there would be no objection. In other towns and cities, as a war measure, there is no objection, but they must receive proper attention.

Death of Mrs. Katherine Weaver.

Mrs. Katherine Weaver died recently in Philadelphia. Her remains were brought to Centre County and buried at the St. Paul church, Haines township. She formerly resided at Woodward and was a sister of the late J. Christ Motz. She was 84 years old and was well known in that section of the county. Her husband, Dr George Weaver, preceded her to the grave ten year ago. She is survived by two sons, Luther and Warren.

A Community Prayer Meeting.

President Wilson and the other men in authority in Washington are beginning to see that if the United States forgets the Almighty God in this awful battle for the world's freeeom from German autocracy the cause will fail. To this end they have been advising the people of the country to meet daily and join in prayer that the Allies may be successful. Accordingly the people of Bellefonte are requested to meet daily in the Methodist Sunday School room for a few minutes to make supplications to the Almighty to care for the boys in camps and trenches and hasten the close of the war in the right way. These meetings will be held at 12 o'clock promptly and will last fifteen minutes. Those who can stay only five minutes are invited. These meetings will be in charge of the ministers of the town, each taking their day to lead. Let everybody turn out as this is almost imperative in order to bring victory to our troops.

"Tenant in apartment Four D, Marbridge court," whispered vociferous Nathan, the young man who worked the switchboard at Curtis & Carter's real estate offices. The young man listened to the voice on the telephone, then turning to the young Mr. Carter, he said: "She wants to talk to one of the firm. Kind o' mad, I should say. Want to talk to her, Mr. Carter?"

"What's she like?" queried the youngest member of the firm.

"Sounds like a cranky old school ma'am. She's awful mad—"

"Oh, well, I might as well talk to her. I'll kid her a little, and maybe that will keep her quiet," and still turning over the papers on his desk, with his right hand, Mr. Carter reached out with his left hand to take the receiver off its hook on his desk phone while the operator connected him with the tenant in apartment Four D.

"So you're pretty cold. Well, now—I didn't catch the name—Miss Crosby—I certainly am sorry. But you'll have to see Mr. Hoover about that. Now, you don't think we're keeping that apartment cold just to make you mad. No, honest, there isn't any way we can get more coal. What—the theaters get coal enough. Well, that's a good one. All you can do, then, is to go to a show. It's matinee day. Now, really, I didn't mean to make you angry. But you see, everyone is kicking, and it really isn't our fault. We can't get any more coal and all we can do is to try and keep cheerful about it. What? You bet that it isn't so cold here in our office as it is in your apartment? Well, now, Miss Crosby, I'll have to admit that it is pretty comfortable here. We've got a southern exposure and we're on the ground floor, and somehow these office building people do manage to get the coal. Yes, it is unfair. What? Why, certainly. I'd be glad to see you. Come right along. Yes, just ask for Mr. Carter, Jr., Frank Carter. Good-by, Miss Crosby. I'll see you soon." He hung the receiver back on the hook and then clapped his hand over the ear with which he had been listening as if to relieve it from the effect of the volley fire that had been charged on it through the phone.

"Wow," he said, addressing the telephone operator on the opposite side of the room, beyond the little wooden fence. "Wow, but she certainly is some sour old maid. I thought I'd kid her into good humor, but it was the wrong tack. I wonder if she'll call my bluff and come down and see how warm we are. But say, Nathan, try to get the coal commissioner on the wire again. It's a shame to run the fires so low. Ask them if they can't let me speak to him personally. It seems as if something ought to be done."

A half-hour later young Carter heard a very low but unmistakable whistle. It was Nathan's way of indicating that something worth observing was occurring in the office. There was a note of admiration in the whistle—distinctly it was his way of signaling to the other boys in the office and Mr. Carter, who was still young enough to be interested in such a signal even though he was a member of the firm—the proximity of a pretty girl.

Carter looked up from his paper, caught the direction of Nathan's gaze and then whistled an answering whistle, very low, but still audible to Nathan. It was a pretty girl and she was approaching in the vicinity of Nathan. Enveloped in a voluminous fur-trimmed rough woolen coat of a dark violet hue, with her hands encased in a black muff to match the fur on her coat, with a picturesque black velvet hat, cut on the poke bonnet order, that cast much shadow on her face, there was still enough opportunity to see that the girl beneath so much warmth-giving clothes was young, animated and pretty.

The bewildered Nathan looked up as she approached and to her query that Carter did not hear, he nodded to the desk of the youngest member of the firm. Then the violet coat and the delicate aroma of violet sachet that went with it moved toward the little wooden fence that hedged in Mr. Carter's desk.

"Here I am," said the girl. "I'm the tenant in Four D., Marbridge court. Where do you want me to sit—inside the fence or outside?"

Carter jumped from his seat and was so confused that all he could say was: "Inside the fence—please take this chair, any chair, any chair. Yes, indeed. You—are actually Miss Crosby? How very good of you."

"No, I won't take your chair. I'll take this little one," she said, slipping out of her coat and revealing a very neatly fitted plain blue serge dress beneath. She placed the chair precisely half way between the radiator and the window where the light would come over her left shoulder. "There," she said. "I like it just like that. I shall knit and not disturb you at all. Please sit down, Mr. Carter. You can't imagine what a pleasure it is to be warm."

Carter noted a tone of asperity in the girl's voice but he did not feel in the least irritated by it. He tried to swing himself around in his swivel chair so that he could go on with the work before him, but the chair seemed to swing of its own accord around again so that he sat looking at his guest.

"So—so you took my invitation seriously, did you? I'm glad." He laughed with embarrassment and the girl opened two blue eyes wide and round, with studied naivety, behind which Carter knew lay much sarcasm. "Why, didn't you mean that you wanted me to come?" she asked. "You first suggested the theater, but you see, I've been at the theater till I've seen every show in town and every movie in the neighborhood. And I simply must get these army sweaters done!" Carter noticed that she had taken a half finished khaki sweater from her bag.

Even to his inexperienced eyes the knitting seemed wonderfully firm, warm and compact and he noted the gold ends of the knitting needles.

"I've called on all my friends. You see I don't know many people in town, and I've shopped till I've bought a trunkful of things I don't need. I've spent hours in church and other hours in the museum and the public libraries. So your invitation was very welcome. Perhaps if I had always lived in the North I could stand the apartment. But you see this is my first winter North. I came with my aunt and now she has gone away for a few weeks and I'm alone. One feels the cold more when one is alone, I think." Then promising not to disturb Mr. Carter any more she continued her knitting in silence. From time to time when Mr. Carter felt that her eyes were intent on her knitting he swung around in his swivel chair and caught a timid glance at the girl. Sometimes he noticed the graceful ankle, at other times the slender capable hands that were so neatly framed in the tight white lace cuffs of her dark sleeves. At other times he noticed the glint of auburn in her hair and then again the long curve of the dark lashes that shaded her blue eyes. He did not know that from beneath those long lashes the blue eyes were perfectly capable of observing his stolen glances though the graceful fingers went on uninterruptedly with the needles and wool.

"Couldn't you give me a job?" Nancy Crosby put this question to Mr. Carter one day after she had been making her visits to his office for the purpose of keeping warm during the course of an entire week. "I am getting tired of knitting. One can't do that all the time. I could do copying for you and sort over papers perhaps and stick up envelopes and stamps and things."

So Mr. Carter secured a little mahogany desk, had it placed beside his own and there established Nancy Crosby as his volunteer assistant. They had finally agreed that the money that she earned as his assistant should be contributed to the Red Cross.

It was in the afternoon of that day that Mr. Carter dropped in at the Marbridge Court and getting the emergency key to apartment Four D from the janitor there let himself into the empty apartment and did a little amateur tinkering on his own account. That morning through his incessant efforts a goodly supply of coal had been deposited in the coal bins of the Marbridge Court.

Nancy Crosby continued to work for him for a week more. He asked her one day whether her apartment was still cold. "Yes," she said, "it really is dreadful. There isn't any steam in the living room radiator, though the bedroom radiators are all right. But you see I can't stay there in the day time. Isn't it strange, for the other tenants are perfectly comfortable now."

"Yes, it is funny," agreed Carter, and began to read a lease on his desk with eagerness.

At the end of that week Nancy's aunt was expected to return and Nancy had indicated that she would have to give up her job.

"I took it just to be spiteful. In fact, I came down to bother you, just to make you furious. I thought you were holding off the steam so as to save money and I intended to find out and to make you so tired of seeing me around that you would get the coal at any cost. But really I have had a lovely time. Thank you for making it so pleasant. But now that aunt is coming back I really wish something could be done about that apartment."

"I'll go up myself," Carter promised. "Maybe something is the matter with the living room radiator. I'll have it attended to at once. But—but—we aren't going to forget each other now, are we? You see, I've been getting terrifically interested in you, though I suppose to you I'm an impossible sort of fellow."

"Impossible!" echoed Nancy. "You don't suppose I would have fibbed about the radiator if I hadn't wanted an excuse to be with you. I haven't even noticed whether it was hot or cold."

"You haven't," gasped Carter. "And I put the valve out of commission in your living room."

Here and There.

"Brownie."—Cameras $1 up. Green's Pharmacy.

A young son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Donovan, last Friday at Axe Mann.

A. G. Morris, of Bellefonte, recently purchased a beautiful 1918 Cadillac limousine of which he is very proud.

Russel Beezer, one of the obliging assistants at the P. R. R. passenger station, spent Sunday with friends in Snow Shoe.

Mrs. Robert Custer, of Philipsburg, is spending this week in Bellefonte as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thompson, on Linn street.

Dr. George Yocum, of Scranton, was a Bellefonte visitor Wednesday at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Ezra Yocum, on Linn street.

We need wait not quite a week now to see the home talent play. It will be Monday evening, May 13th, in Garman's opera house, and the curtin will rise promptly at eight thirty.

John Given, of New York City, arrived in Bellefonte and registered at the Bush House. His younger days were spent here, he being a nephew of the late Miss Mary McBride.

Harry Taylor, book-keeper for the Titan Metal Co., has leased the Lutheran parsonage on Linn Street, and will move his family to Bellefonte from Harrisburg the latter part of this month.

Rev. Robert Tressler was here the latter part of last week to see his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Tressler. He is a Methodist minister and is located at Dudley, Huntingdon County.

H. P. Kelley, of Snow Shoe, went to Philadelphia Saturday to accompany home his son, George Kelley, who had been in the hospital for an operation; they returned to Snow Shoe Sunday.

Mrs. Eliza McCracken, one of the most aged and esteemed residents of Centre County, is in a critical condition at her home at Pine Grove Mills as a result of a partial stroke of paralysis. The is almost 90 years of age.

Sunday "Irv" Gettig, of Bellefonte, was in the vicinity of Beech Creek with his automobile. It had rained considerably, making the roads like grease. It was thus with great difficulty he got home without going over the bank.

Rev. J. C. Kelly, of Greensburg, was a visitor in Bellefonte Monday. He is one of the oldest ministers in the Huntingdon Presbytery. He has relatives here and when young was a prominent factor in the social life of our town.

Malcolm Yeager and Jack Decker, of Bellefonte, are the new additions to the Girls Band of Milesburg. Won't they be in clover? Both young men are not ordinary musicians and play the saxophone with considerable accuracy and ability.

W. Fred Reynolds, Jr., Henry Keller, Philip Shoemaker and Dick Taylor are among the Bellefonte boys who are now on the great deep, bound for the front. It is said that Henry Keller will take extra training in the camp over in France to prepare him for further advancement in the army.

John D. Sourbeck was moved Tuesday from the hospital to his rooms in the Garman residence on the corner of High and Spring Streets. It was the opinion of his friends it would be beneficial in the fact that Mr. Sourbeck will be more contented. Mrs. Lottie Harper, his niece, will look after him until he is able to again do for himself.

Next Sabbath will be "Mothers Day." This is the one day in the year which you are called upon to wear a flower in honor of your best friend, whether she has gone to her reward or whether she is still here administering to your needs. If she is with you she will appreciate it and if she has gone no better mark of respect could be paid to her memory. Wear a flower for mother.

H. T. Noll, at one time a passenger brakeman on the train running between Sunbury and Bellefonte over the L. & T. railroad, went to Fort Niagara training camp some time after the war broke out. Afterward he received the commission of First Lieutenant and went to France. News reached Bellefonte Tuesday he had been captured by the Germans some place in the interior.

Bellefonte went over the top with reference to the purchasing of Liberty Bonds and, of course, was entitled to an honor flag. As a fitting tribute to the late Governor Andrew Curtin, William Burnside and others took the flag and placed it in the arm of the Curtin statue on the diamond. About 58 yeass ago he handed the same flag to the Pennsylvania soldiers as they left for the field of battle and requested them not to bring it back until it became the insignia of victory and they heeded his admonition.

Mrs. Ellen Miller and her sister, Miss Caroline McCloskey, accompanied by their little nephew, William McCloskey, all residents of Potters Mills, have been guests this week at the residence of Mrs. Margaret Hutchinson, on Howard street. The McCloskey family have been pioneer residents of that part of the county and stand very high in the community socially and otherwise. "Billy" McCloskey has occupied the Allison farm, at Potters Mills, for fifty-five or fifty-eight years. That is certainly a most excellent record and recommendation.

"Day Dreams," a real cool talc. At Green's.

Frank Naginey left Bellefonte Wednesday for Warren, Pa.

Shoot!—A brand new line of 1918 Kodaks. Green's Pharmacy.

John P. Sebring, Sr., of Bellefonte, was a visitor in Jersey Shore Wednesday.

Andy Saylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Saylor, of Bellefonte, who is in Uncle Sam's navy, has sailed five times to and from France since Christmas.

Mrs. Rebecca C. Tuten, widow of the late Earl Tuten, of Bellefonte, is now an employee in the Philipsburg Ledger office. She will have charge of the office work.

Mrs. Harry McKee, of Wilkinsburg, Station, Pittsburgh, who had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fortney, in Bellefonte, and friends at Boalsburg, left Tuesday for home.

At the last regular meeting of the year, at which Miss Rhoads and Mrs. Weston were hostesses, Miss Virginia McCurdy read a paper on the early period of Florentine Art before the Bellefonte Chapter, D. A. R.

Norman Sherer, of Reading, spent part of Saturday and Sunday in Bellefonte. He was here on a business trip in connection with the Bellefonte and Nittany furnace proposition.

William McFarlane, of St. Louis, arrived in Bellefonte Monday and from here he went to Boalsburg where he spent a short time with his uncle, Frank McFarlane. He will visit his mother, Mrs. Kyle McFarlane, at Lock Haven.

Mrs. John Woomer, mother of Frank Woomer of Bellefonte, who at one time was a resident here, had a tumor taken from her on Tuesday in the Lock Haven hospital. Although it was a serious operation the patient is getting along nicely.

"Joe" Knisely arrived in Bellefonte Saturday on a furlough of fifteen days. He is located at Camp Sheridan, Montgomery, Ala. He is the young man who had been all crippled up with rheumatism and for weeks sat almost helpless in a chair. It may not be long until he will be called to go over the top.

Dr. Melvin J. Locke, of Bellefonte, who is a member of the National Medical Advisory Board, Washington, D. C., returned from the Capitol City Tuesday. He was there on official business and stated that seven thousand physicians are needed in the service and in case they do not volunteer the government will be compelled to resort to conscription.

Mrs. Edward Harper arrived in Bellefonte Thursday afternoon. She will visit her brother, H. C. Yeager, and Mrs. Jerome Harper. After coming here she went to the hospital to see her uncle John D. Sourbeck, who recognized her at once. This is a strong indication that the clot of blood on his brain is gradually scattering and in a short time he will be himself again.

Here's one for Frank Wetzler and his Girls Band, of Milesburg. While Coburn's minstrel was in Bellefonte last week the chief musician of the minstrel band listened with interest to the girls playing and afterward remsked that in all his travels he never came across a band of young girls that could handle the instruments any better than the Milesburg girls are handling them. He stated also that their instructor must be a "Dandy." He was right.

Charles L. Gates, of Bellefonte, recently received an interesting letter from his son, Charles, who is somewhere in France. Among other things he said that one day he was sitting in a restaurant when some one tapped him on the shoulder and said, "are you not from Bellefonte?" On looking around he was surprised to find it to be "Bud" Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morris, of Bellefonte, who has become a professional flyer and as a courtesy invited Charles to take a ride in the air with him. They went up about two thousand feet and had a jolly time.

The choir in the Bellefonte Presbyterian church has been reorganized under the direction of Mrs. R. G. H. Hayes and Mrs. Ross Parker. They have been successful in enlisting some of the best singers in the church in the good cause and there is every reason to believe that the efforts put forth in this direction will bring excellent results. Last Sabbath the choir was composed of sixteen members and the music rendered was very much enjoyed by the congregation. All that is necessary to make the choir a grand success is for the members to take an interest in seeing that everybody is there each Sabbath. Good music is one of the attractive features of any christian service.

Maximum service from "Maximum" inner tubes. Green's Pharmacy.

Miss Gussie Evey, of Valley View, spent the week-end with Miss Janette Miller of this place.

James Gehret, who is in training at Camp Meade, was home on a twenty four hour furlough the forepart of the week.

The chart for the home talent play will be open at Parrish's Drug Store after two o'clock on Saturday afternoon next Positively no tickets sold before that hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hubler, of Lock Haven, are rejoicing over the arrival of a girl baby. Mrs. Hubler is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gehret.

A little baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lyon at the Bellefonte hospital. The baby was born last Thursday the same day Mr. Lyon sailed for France.

Frank Crissman, son of Homer Crissman, of Bellefonte, sailed Sunday for France. He is a military policeman and will do that kind of servsce in Camps across the waters.

Wagner Geiss, of Bellefonte, has place on the road a new jitney bus which is in charge of Paul Mallory. He meets all trains and by calling up the Geiss livery stable he'll be at your service.

John Waite, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Waite, of this place, arrived safely last Saturday "somewhere in France", according to a message received on Sunday. John was among the Bellefonte boys sent to Camp Meade some time ago. He will "make good" for Uncle Sam.

Postmaster H. D. Krape, Mrs. E. J. Hinds, Mrs. J. M. Otto and Mrs. Anne Stover, all of Aaronsburg, were in Bellefonte Tuesday attending the Liberty Loan meeting held in the Court House. They also attended some business relative to the Red Cross. They are all good and efficient workers in raising money to promote the war.

Edward Howe, of Philipsburg, after spending a brief furlough with home folks and friends, left last Thursday for Baltimore, to resume his duties as motor truck driver in the transportation division of the service. He enlisted in the Boal Machine Gun Troop at Boalsburg and went to the Mexican border and later a fondness for horses landed him in the cavalry. He is but 18 years old. Like most of the other boys in service, he is anxious to get "over there.."

Lieutenant Frederick Reynolds, son of Colonel and Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds, of Bellefonte sailed last week with other soldiers from Camp Hancock for active service in France. Colonel and Mrs. Reynolds were in New York to say goodbye. Frederick enlisted here with what was formerly Troop L and was advanced to a sergeant before the boys departed for Cams Hancock. At the latter place he won a commission as second lieutenant.

Miss Rebecca N. Rhoads departed on Monday for New York to appear on Tuesday before an examining board to determine what line of Y. M. C. A. work in France she is best qualified to handle. Her brother, Joseph Rhoads, of Oil City, spent Sunday in Bellefonte and on Monday accompanied her as far as Lock Haven, where he stopped over to attend a board meeting of the Lock Haven Gas Company. One evening last week the Bellefonte chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, presented Miss Rhoads with a handsome radio wrist watch in appreciation of her contemplated service abroad.

Mrs. Wagner Geiss, of Bellefonte, had as her guest Saturday for a short time Mrs. M L. Person, of Philipsburg, N. J. She was on her way home from Centre Hall where she had been visiting her mother, Mrs. James Strohm.
